Brooklyn Scene Of Terrible Calamity When Huge Gas Main Explodes And Gas Is Ignited.

FOUR MEN ESCAPED FROM DEATH

Thought Twenty Workmen, An Unknown Woman And Two Children Are Still Buried Beneath The Debris And Cannot Be Reached.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Nov. 20.—An explosion of a gas main in an excavation at Gold and Front streets, Brooklyn, today, tore the street to pieces for rods on either side and twelve men who were working in excavating for a big sewer pipe were buried by the debris which fell in upon them and are believed to have been smothered or burned to death in the fire that followed the explosion.

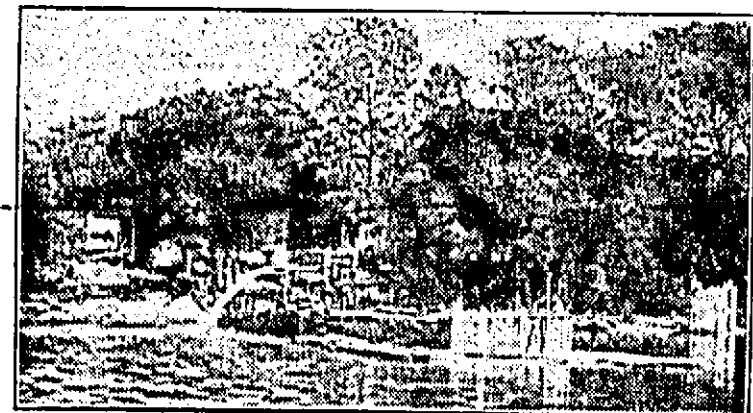

Four men buried in the cave-in are reported to have escaped by crawling through a sewer.
So great was the mass of broken timbers and mud in the bottom of the trench where the gas exploded that four hours after the explosion the police and firemen have not been able to find any other than one body which was found in the street.
It is believed the bodies of nearly twenty workmen and an unknown woman and two children were buried in the debris.

PLANKS LOOSENED; WORK WAS STOPPED

Part of Sheathing in Coffin Dam Built Across the River Gave Way, Letting Water Into Trenches.
Yesterday afternoon a section of the coffin dam which has been built for the laying of the two sewer pipes across the river, came out and allowed the trench in which the pipes were being laid to fill up with water. The dam was built about twenty-five feet from the west bank and a part of the sheathing of the dam had been driven into quicksand which caused the boards which form the sheathing to work upward and come out. The accident occurred so suddenly that the workmen in the trench had barely time to get out before the water rushed in. If the accident had occurred an hour later its work would have been timely, as the foreman had intended to let the water in. As it was, there were three lengths of pipe to be calked and the work will be delayed about a day to repair the dam and finish the work.

SENT TO MENDOTA AT OWN REQUEST

One-time Pastor of New York Church Sent to State Asylum from La Crosse.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 20.—Onco pastor of a fashionable Episcopal church at Newport which numbered members of the Gould and Vanderbilt families among its parishioners, the Rev. St. W. Moran has been committed to the insane asylum at Mendota as a result of habits which he is alleged to have contracted while in the eastern city. Mr. Moran was arrested here last spring charged with obtaining money under false pretenses and the same charge was preferred against him a second time but the matter was settled out of court. He asked to be sent to Mendota saying he was convinced a rest there would cure him.

Cut His Throat
Sitting in a chair with a deep gash in his throat and a razor clamped tightly in his hand, the body of Andrew Pitloch, a well-to-do farmer, was found by his wife upon her entering the room where she executed an errand for him. Nervousness as a result of sickness was the motive assigned for the deed.

WISCONSIN DISPLAY FOR THE CORN SHOW

State University Preparing Fine Exhibit For Omaha Exposition.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 20.—The co-operative display of Wisconsin for the National Corn Exposition at Omaha, Dec. 9-19, is being prepared by the agronomy department of the University of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Association. This exhibition will fill the special car, Dec. 9-19, is being prepared by the agronomy department of the University of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Association. This exhibition will fill the special car, Dec. 9-19, is being prepared by the agronomy department of the University of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Association.

There is yet need of more small grains and forage crops from individual Wisconsin exhibitors. If the state is to be adequately represented, entries close Nov. 25, but shipments may be made later. It is announced that free baggage cars will be provided by the railroad for shipments from county seats.
Many valuable prizes have been offered, both in classes open to the world and in classes open to Wisconsin only. Every farmer who takes pride in Wisconsin and her products should send something to exhibit. The cost of making an exhibit is small. The annual membership costing one dollar entitles the member to make exhibits in as many classes as he desires. The transportation of the exhibit to Omaha will be slight.

Following is a statement sent out by the Corn Exposition Management: "Baggage cars will be furnished by the railroads coming into Omaha to bring exhibits to the National Corn Exposition, free of charge and those who desire to send exhibits will be notified as to the days these cars will be carried by the railroads. The plan is to have cars at all county seats in the state which will exhibit at the show in Omaha. Exhibitors need only express their corn, wheat, oats, alfalfa, or other exhibits to the nearest point where the baggage car stops to have the exhibits brought to Omaha without charge. The exhibition will furnish an attendant with each baggage car, who will be in charge from the starting place of the car until it gets to Omaha, seeing that the exhibits are properly handled. This insures the exhibits arriving in Omaha in the best possible condition and in good time."

HARVARD AND YALE TO MEET TOMORROW

Twenty Ninth Annual Struggle Will be Played at New Haven on Saturday.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New Haven, Conn., Nov. 20.—The advance guard of an army of thousands of visitors has reached here, eager and enthusiastic over tomorrow's football game between the Harvard and Yale eleven. The downtown streets are resplendent with the colors of the two big universities and there are many other outward and visible signs that the great autumn festival of the year is at hand.

Both of the teams are in quarters awaiting the signal that will call them to victory or defeat. Reports are to the effect that all the players are in excellent shape, and a spirit of confidence pervades both camps. Scrimmage in recent years have the Harvard men entertained a feeling of greater confidence in the result. The general impression is that the teams are more evenly balanced this year than usual. Unless all signs are misleading it will be a game well worth witnessing.
The game tomorrow will be the twenty-ninth since 1876, in which year Rugby football was introduced at Yale and Harvard. Of the games played Yale has won 21 and Harvard three. There have been three tie games. In 1877, 1888, 1895 and 1896 the teams did not meet. Harvard has not won since 1901, in which year she was victorious by a score of 22 to 0. Since then it has been a continuous string of wins for the Elis.

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE OF AGRICULTURE IN ROME

Representatives Of Forty-Six Nations Were Present At Opening Session.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Rome, November 20.—Delegates representing forty-six nations in all parts of the world, were assembled in the magnificent marble palace erected in the grounds of the historical Villa Borghese for the purpose, when King Victor Emmanuel opened the first session of the International Institute of Agriculture today. The organization which owes its existence to the initiative and efforts of King Victor Emmanuel, and has met with the warm support of nearly all civilized governments, has for its principal object the collection of complete and reliable information concerning the farm crops in all parts of the world. Its organization is not yet completed, but will be perfected during the session opened today. According to the program favored by a majority of the delegates a number of special departments or bureaus will be created, each to have charge of some particular branch of work, as the gathering of crop statistics, the collecting of information concerning the wages paid for farm work, new diseases of vegetation and effective remedies, agricultural co-operation, insurance and credit, simplification of weights and measures, etc.
The plan of forming this institute was suggested by King Victor Emmanuel about three years ago and the Italian government entered upon negotiations with the governments of other countries with a view of obtaining their support of the movement in the form of biennial conventions. At first his plan did not receive much encouragement in Germany, France and England, but the United States ratified such a treaty about two years ago and strongly agitated the matter with other governments. Since then there has been a complete change of sentiment in regard to this matter in Germany, France and England and these three countries are now among the most enthusiastic supporters of the International Institute of Agriculture and of its aims.
The King of Italy not only had a marble palace built for the exclusive use of the institute, but has also bestowed upon the institute estates which yield an annual income of from $60,000 to $100,000. The palace was first used in June of this year, when the permanent organization committee, consisting of representatives of the various countries supporting the institute plan, assembled there for a preliminary conference. Signor Falga, well known throughout Europe as an agricultural expert, was chosen presiding officer. In that conference a program was formulated for the organization of the institute. This program was afterwards submitted by the delegates to their respective governments for approval. The delegates comprising the institute will report to the institute at its present session and a complete plan of organization will be developed in accordance with the instructions of the delegates. Primarily the institute will devote itself to the great task of obtaining accurate and reliable crop statistics. Its success in this field will mean an enormous saving to the world and the creation of a gigantic balance wheel for the markets of the world. To counteract the influences that now manipulate and falsify for individual gain information about crops, with the result of hundreds of millions of dollars loss annually to producers and consumers, will involve so much readjustment that no one can give an accurate estimate of the benefit in dollars and cents. It is also expected that the institute will become an efficient promoter of universal peace. Already it has brought forty-six nations into relations of comity, without the slightest friction, and its inherent principles, those of education and information, cannot fail to be a continuous and powerful influence for peace.
The list of the nations represented in the institute is as follows: Argentina Republic, Australia, Austria-Hungary, Belgium, Brazil, British Guiana, Bulgaria, Canada, Chili, China, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, Ecuador, Egypt, Ethiopia, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Guatemala, India, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, Mexico, Montenegro, Mauritius, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Paraguay, Persia, Peru, Portugal, Roumania, Russia, Salvador, Serbia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Uruguay and the United States of America.

FOOTBALL DOPE ALL IN A SINGLE GLANCE

Wisconsin-Chicago Game Biggest in West; Yale-Harvard in the East.

Saturday will see the close of the football season of 1908, for with the exception of the annual Pennsylvania-Cornell game on Thanksgiving and the Army-Navy contest the following Saturday, the big teams will all finish their labors tomorrow.

Local interest is centered in the Chicago-Wisconsin contest at Madison. Fully a hundred Janesville enthusiasts will go to the Capital city tomorrow morning to witness the contest which will decide the western championship. Already eight thousand tickets have been sold in Madison for the game and a record breaking crowd is anticipated.

On paper Chicago looks the stronger team. Perhaps this is due to the fact that the Chicago team has the prestige of several victories in former years, but even Eckersall, the former Chicago quarter, now a sporting writer for a Chicago paper, warns his friends not to be overconfident.

Comparative scores are not a satisfactory means of estimating the strength of two teams. A week's training, a few new plays, men injured earlier in the season getting back into the game and a return of confidence will work wonders for any team. Both Chicago and Wisconsin have defeated Minnesota, their former hated rival. Chicago by a larger score than did Wisconsin, yet this can be counted for nothing in the dope sheet.

Since the Cornell-Chicago game last Saturday, which ended in a tie score, Coach Stagg of the Maroons has had his men hard at work preparing for the Wisconsin game. The Badgers were in Chicago and watched the Midway players closely and during the past week have been working against the scrubs who used the Chicago formations.

Enthusiasm in both universities runs high. Wisconsin feels that for the first time in years it has a team that is all wool and a yard wide and can be depended upon to win if it is possible. The Maroons on the other hand feel they are the only real football article in the west and will go to the game confident of winning. It is an even break, although the odds on bets made run as high as two to one in favor of Chicago, but betting odds do not make scores.

In the east Yale and Harvard meet to settle the championship of the east. It looks like a Yale victory for three reasons. Yale has a remarkable team and Yale has the proverbial 12th luck and also the game is to be played at New Haven. Harvard on the other hand has really shown up better than Yale if you take comparative scores but these must not influence the guess as to the victor.

Both teams are in fine fettle and both teams are confident of winning. The odds on this game are five to four in favor of the Blue but the Crimson backers have lots of money up at these odds and it may go down to even money before the game begins. It promises to be a hot contest whichever side wins.

Minnesota and the Indians meet at Minneapolis and the wily Redskins will have their hands full despite the showing that Minnesota has made this year. Nothing has been heard from their camp for a week past and Coach Williams is a gentleman who keeps surprises up his sleeve and is a trifle deaf when interviewed about his play or.

Northwestern plays Illinois and as the Purple has again entered the football arena after several years of absence from the game the contest is to be watched with interest as a dope on next year's team.

Michigan goes to Syracuse, N. Y., for their closing game. Coach Yost's scoring machine has been out of kilter this fall and the defeat last Saturday by the Pennsylvania team took some of the starch out of them. Syracuse, on the other hand, is much encouraged and while Yost will probably have his scoring machine well greased up to play on a foreign field with an adverse crowd and may lose.

PLAY WATERLOO FOR THE OPENING GAME

Y. M. C. A. Basketball Team to Play There This Evening—First Game of Season.

At 2:45 this afternoon the Y. M. C. A. basketball squad left for Waterloo, Wis., where they will meet the first five of that city this evening. The team of this year is made up as follows: B. Kline, forward; O. Sennett, center; S. Deora, guard; B. Baker, guard; A. Fildel and V. Merrill, forward. Physical Director Birch also accompanied the team and will act as one of the officials. For one forward position both Fildel and Merrill will probably be tried out during the game. The team will return on Saturday and a number of them will stop over at Madison to witness the Wisconsin-Chicago football game.

This is the first game of the season for the local team, which has been practicing twice a week for the past six weeks, and the result of tonight's game will give a clue on the team as to the season's prospects. Physical Director Birch has been coaching the team in a number of new plays, and signal plays, which have been used here before will be a strong point in the playing of this year's team.

A large number of teams have asked for games with the local five, but the schedule has not been entirely arranged as yet. The schedule now is: Milton college at Janesville, Dec. 3; Monroe at Monroe, Dec. 18; Milton college at Milton, Jan. 14; Monroe at Janesville, Jan. 8; Waterloo at Janesville, Jan. 22; Burlington at Burlington, Feb. 12; Burlington at Janesville, Feb. 25. The Cardinals of the Chicago Central Y. M. C. A. have asked for a game on Feb. 15. This team is one of the strongest in the country and makes extensive trips every season.

SANTA CLAUS WANTS THE LETTERS EARLY

Patron Saint of Yuletide Asks His Little Correspondents to Be on Time.

Way up at the North Pole, in the land of the Plumtree and the Sugar loaf, old Santa Claus is making ready for his visit to the world of humans on Christmas eve. The dear old fellow waits all the year to make his little friends happy and works for their making the toys and dressing dolls and packing bags of sugar plums and candies.

Outside his reindeer are waiting for him to take his mythical trip through the stars and snow to Childhoodland and they will carry him and his vast sleigh full of good things straight and true on his journey.

As his special agent old Santa has asked the Gazette to be sure and impress upon his little believers that he wants to hear from them. He warns them that perhaps he can not give them all they ask for, but he would like to hear from them so he can make up his pack.

He asks them all to write him and send their letters to the Gazette so he can get them in plenty of time. He has set the date December 12th as the time his mail-bag is to be locked and shipped via wireless service to his home in the Ice Palace of the North.

He also asks the little people to write on one side of the paper and put a two-cent stamp on the letters. Uncle Sam's mail men will see that the letters reach Santa and that he will reach Santa.

If the little people themselves can not write perhaps their big brother or sister or their mamma or papa will do it for them. They surely can not have forgotten the days they looked for their dear old friend in childhood and help the little ones enjoy the season as long as possible.

Nothing is so real to a little boy or girl as Santa Claus and his wonderful sleigh and reindeer and the older people are urged not to awake them from the dream any sooner than stern necessity compels.

OBITUARY.

Charles M. Porter. Charles M. Porter was buried on Wednesday last at Ft. Atkinson his death being caused by a stroke of apoplexy which occurred while he was in St. Charles, La. Mr. Porter was stricken a week ago today and lived for only a few hours. Mr. Porter was well known here.

Antone Prox. The funeral services of Antone Prox were held this morning at nine o'clock from St. Mary's church. The Rev. W. A. Goebel officiated and the interment was in the Mt. Olivet cemetery. The pallbearers were Antone Bier, W. Prox, P. Rigousko, Wm. Walisch, Valentine Bier and John Bier.

Miss Matilda Wenzel. The funeral services of Miss Matilda Wenzel were held this afternoon from the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Menckele, at 255 Ringold street, at 2 o'clock. The Rev. C. J. Koerner officiated. The remains will be shipped to Watertown tomorrow morning at 7:20 and the interment will be in that place.

HERE are five ways in which you get fooled in buying paint:

1. The paint is stuffed out with chalk or something like that.
2. With barytes; better than chalk; doesn't "cover"; you don't know it's there.
3. Benzine, or water, in the oil.
4. Too much liquid, whatever it is, for the solid; paint too thin.
5. Short measure.

Here's one way you can be sure of quality:

Dovec Lead and Zinc Paint. Is all paint, full measure; lead, zinc, linseed oil, color and turpentine dryer, and nothing else.

MISTRESS OF FANCY ROLLER-SKATING ART

Miss Bertha Doud Mack Pleased Big Crowd of Spectators with Evolutions at Rink Last Night.

Miss Bertha Doud Mack, mistress of the art of fancy roller-skating, won the repeated applause of a big crowd of spectators in her remarkable evolutions at the West Side rink last evening.

A superb clog dance was only one of the numerous wonders she performed. She has the grace and attractive stage presence of a dancer and was a member of the Anna Held company for two seasons. Miss Mack will repeat her performance at the rink tonight and will close her engagement tomorrow evening.

WISCONSIN EIGHTH IN LIST OF STATES

Receives Aid from Government to Perfect the Efficiency of its National Guard.

The division of militia affairs of the war department has announced the allowance of ammunition for the present fiscal year made to the National Guard under the act of May 27, 1908, being fifty per cent of the allowance to the regular army. The total set aside for this purpose is $443,121, divided among the states according to the enlisted strength of their National Guard. New York leads with an enlisted strength of 12,800 and $80,125 for ammunition. New Mexico, which has the smallest National Guard, gets $1,555 for its 215 enlisted men. Wisconsin is eighth on the list with 2,811 enlisted men and an allowance of $16,888. Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Alabama being listed in the order named.

In accordance of the plan to encourage the teaching of the use of the military rifle in educational institutions and rifle practice among the students, the war department has revised the orders governing the allowance of small arms ammunition to institutions at which officers of the army are detailed as instructors. Under the new regulations $21,000 has been set aside for the one hundred such institutions, to include rifle-ball cartridges, blank ammunition, .22 caliber ball cartridges for gallery practice, and target supplies. Issues will be made on requisitions certified to by the professors of military science and tactics, specifying the actual facilities for the gallery and range practice, the time allotted by the institution, and the number of students enrolled in the military department to whom opportunity is afforded by the authorities of the institution to participate in gallery or range practice or both.

The war department specifies the maximum allowance for each student at forty rounds of rifle-ball cartridges for each range the total not to exceed 120 rounds per student. When gallery practice is held in addition to range practice, sixty rounds of .22 caliber ball cartridges are allowed per student. Where there is gallery practice but no facilities for range practice, 120 rounds of .22 caliber are allowed per student. Each institution is also allowed ten rounds of rifle blank cartridges. Should such an institution desire target supplies they may be obtained from the war department but only in lieu of a corresponding monetary reduction of the ammunition allowance for that institution.

STATE CONFERENCE COMES NEXT WEEK

Annual Conference of State Boys' Work of Y. M. C. A. to Be at Fond du Lac.

Next week on Friday, Saturday and the following Sunday the annual state conference of boys' work of the Y. M. C. A. is to be held at Fond du Lac. This is the sixth annual gathering of this kind, the fifth one having been held in this city last year.

A number of the younger members of the local organization are planning to attend this conference next week. Sterling Campbell has been asked to respond to the address of welcome at the banquet which will be held during the convention. F. E. Birch will attend and possibly Secretary J. C. Kline.

COMMISSION VALUING UTILITIES' PROPERTY

Real Estate and Personal Property of All Public Service Companies to Be Valued.

Following out their plan of valuing the property of all the public utilities companies in the state, the railroad commission now has a number of men at work tabulating the amount and value of the property owned by these companies. Mr. Gross has been at work here for several days and will be here about three weeks getting together tables with regard to the value of railroad property in the county. From here he will go to Walworth county.

The entire plan of tabulation, as laid out, will take at least two years and probably much longer, but the data when it is prepared will be valuable enough to more than repay for the time spent in procuring it.

Horse Killed; Train number 501 on the North-Western road struck and killed a horse at the Gold street crossing. The animal was the property of Thos. Daly, who lives near the tracks, but its owner has been missing for some time and the horse has had no care and has wandered about to get enough to eat. It walked onto the tracks and was struck and thrown and then caught on the pilot and was carried some distance. The train was stopped, as the crew feared they had struck a buggy and might have killed someone. Sections hands buried the carcass this morning.

OVERCOATS

An All Absorbing Topic and Some Timely Suggestions by Rehberg

INASMUCH as your overcoat (providing it is of good quality such as we sell) is with you for a number of years, it behooves you to use care and discretion in the matter of selection.

Sophomore
Clothes

A good overcoat does not necessarily need to be a high priced coat. Of course, the price regulates the degree of fineness, but an overcoat such as we sell at $12 to $15 should give you a service of a good long period and should have the same comparative qualities as those which sell at $18.00 to $35.00.

Have you secured proper service heretofore from your overcoat purchases? How long since you purchased your last overcoat? What is its condition today?

OVERCOATS AT $12 TO $15

One can find at these prices here practically the same styles as the higher priced garments embody. The patterns and fitting ideas and qualities of cloth are equal to the clothing you pay $1 to $3 additional for at other stores. We have always made this claim and it stands today with the same strength as the first day we offered it.

HIRSH WICKWIRE OVERCOATS

The Hirsh-Wickwire hand tailored coats of conservative style, are the highest type of ready-to-wear garments. The aim of all clothing manufacturers has been to produce a garment that will equal in all essentials the made-to-measure goods. Hirsh-Wickwire clothing is the perfection of these ideas. It rivals the custom goods and costs half. Elegantly made overcoats in the pretty shades at $20 and up to $35.

The Military High-Cut Overcoat

Buttons close up at throat, long, loose, comfortable for any kind of weather. It is the swell, popular coat this season. Variety of pretty patterns at $18 and up to $25.

Viking and Sophomore Goods

The advanced ideas embodied in the clothing of Viking and Sophomore make have certainly hit the popular chord. If you care to feel secure in dress styles you must have a Viking or Sophomore Overcoat. We could describe them completely but you really need to see them to appreciate their superior qualities. Splendid Overcoat at $18, others up to $25.

Children's Overcoats

The swellest ideas for youngsters; strong wearing, stylish looking coat, $2 to $10. Buy a Sweater Coat; boys' $1 to $2, men's $1.50 to $4.

SHOE STOCKS AND STORE SERVICE

A combination which is of the best. There is not a foot but that finds here its perfect fit and proper style. Don't be satisfied with a shoe which almost fits. Let us show you the real thing.

QUEEN QUALITY SHOES FOR LADIES, prices $3.50 and $4.00. 40 styles; tans, blacks, patents, etc. Every dainty, pretty foot form, every new idea in graceful lines is found in the Queen Quality, a shoe of the $5 type at $3.50 and $4.00.

BOSTONIAN AND KNEELAND SHOES FOR MEN. Shoes for evening dress or for the heaviest winter weather; any style of toe from the broad frank styles to the foot form; tan, black oxfords or high cuts; all leathers; shoes of $5 quality at only $3.50 and $4.00.

MISSIES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES for dress or heavy wear; shoes that won't give out before they should. Come and see them. Dr. Read's Cushion Comfort Shoes for men, 10 styles, $5.

Can you tell who would occupy the White House if Mr. Taft should die before inauguration?

Can you tell who would occupy the White House in case William H. Taft, president-elect, should die prior to March 4, the day set for the inauguration of a new administration? If Mr. Taft should die—which catastrophe may an All-wise Providence prevent—who would become president of the United States on the fourth day of March?

The most superficial study of the constitution of the United States and constitutional customs demonstrates the rather startling fact that there is absolutely no provision in American law against such a possibility. The issue is fairly entitled to be raised, therefore, in justice to the system of American government with the problem of personality entirely removed. In the beginning let it be remembered that after Abraham Lincoln was elected president there was serious concern whether he could reach the capital of the United States in safety for his inauguration. The utmost precaution was necessary and in several cities President Lincoln had to disguise from his published itinerary in order to safely reach the nation's capital. What if the precautions had been of no avail? What if the enemies of the new administration had made good under the fears of Lincoln's friends? What if he had never lived to be inaugurated? Who would have become president?

The same problem still confronts the American people because it has never been settled and, with the election of Mr. Taft is so universally acceptable as to entirely eliminate any possibility of a desire to remove him from mortal earth, nevertheless life is so uncertain that the American people should take advantage of moments of peace to prepare for moments of trouble. Who would become president of the United States, then, in case Mr. Taft should not live until inauguration day? Your first suggestion may be that Vice President Sherman would be in line. But you must immediately remember that Mr. Sherman is vice president to Mr. Taft and that both gentlemen will not assume their governmental positions until chosen by the electoral college when it meets next year. Mr. Sherman could not be chosen vice president unless he was vice to a president and the electoral college could not elect a man who was dead, since the constitution requires certain things of a prospective president. Mr. Sherman, therefore, would not be in line for inauguration as president.

Could the electoral college, which has its instructions today to elect Mr. Taft, be guided by its own conscience in case it could not elect Mr. Taft? In other words, could the electors vote for whomsoever they pleased. Suppose the electors could vote for an outside candidate for president. Let it be remembered that a strong minority of the college is instructed for Mr. Bryan. The majority of republican electors would have to practically agree on a candidate or Mr. Bryan would have the largest vote and as a result the electoral college would turn itself into a great national convention which has no prescribed rules of order of procedure and the net result could be nothing but disorder, disturbance and dissatisfaction.

The congress of the United States has at least once recognized the existence of this problem. In 1892 Senator Hear introduced into the United States senate a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment, which should provide that in case of such problems as this discussion suggests that "the congress of the United States may, by law, provide for the case where there is no person entitled to hold the office of president or vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability shall be removed or a president shall be elected."

The house of representatives, however, refused to concur in the resolution and the amendment never reached the different states for ratification. This seems to be the only attempt made by congress to constitutionally provide against this remote but not impossible development. There seems to be no doubt that this problem of presidential succession prior to inauguration has never been settled and is not the subject of an accepted rule or procedure today. After a president is inaugurated there is no question that the vice president would become president and the secretary of state vice president, as far as succession is concerned. This arrangement provided for the succession after inauguration might suggest constitutional expectations that a similar succession would be expected in such an event as here raised, but it must be remembered that there is no secretary of state on inauguration day, since the secretary of state receives his commission at that time and, therefore, there would be no secretary of state who could be chosen by the electoral college to second place.

The electoral college could not leave the presidency vacant and elect merely a vice president, which course would come the nearest to carrying out the intentions of the people since the people unquestionably expect the vice president to be in line for the presidency in case of presidential disability. The electoral college could not take this course, they could not choose a president who was not alive and duly qualified under the constitution.

It would seem that such an important question of political economy should receive speedy constitutional attention since no government is more stable than its head and when the selection of a president is in question the stability of the government itself is questioned.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair and warmer tonight and Saturday.

LAMENT NUMBER TWO

Mr. Bryan's second lament is found in the current issue of the Commonwealth and reads:

"After forty-eight years of almost continuous republican rule, the wage-earners are living so near to the hunger line that a few weeks' loss of employment brings the family face to face with want. The election comes in November, just at the beginning of winter with fuel to buy, houses rent to pay and warmer clothes to provide for the children. The laboring man is under a constant duress."

"A laboring man who has but little, if anything, laid up for the future, must have a strong heart to defy the expressed wish of his employer and cast his ballot for something which he believes to be permanently good, at the risk of passing through a period of idleness before that good can be secured."

"Four months elapse between election and the inauguration—four cold months. Do not too harshly judge the man who bends to the lash and surrenders his citizenship when his conscience tells him that he should resist injustice and vote for better conditions."

That sort of nonsense would produce a broad grin on the face of a brass monkey. Forty-eight years is a long time for one party to be in "almost continuous rule," but the record will bear close inspection.

The period dates back to the close of the Civil war when the nation was in mourning, and when its treasury had long been depleted. With gold at $2.50 and a debt that seemed insurmountable a republican administration faced a problem which was full of discouragement. But the party proved equal to the emergency, as it ever has when confronted with great crises.

The debt was paid and the honor of the nation maintained. The half century which has elapsed, with the exception of a panic now and then, has been an era of universal prosperity, unbroken except during the four years of Cleveland's second administration, when democracy in full swing took a turn at the wheel.

So prosperous have been the people that 62 per cent of the voters are real estate owners today, while 75 per cent of them have either property or a bank account.

The average voter in normal condition, free from union influences, has no complaint to offer. By thrift and economy he has secured a competency. This average voter represents a large class of intelligent American workmen, who are as well satisfied with conditions that they needed neither advice nor suggestion as to how to vote in the last campaign.

Mr. Bryan is a victim of general prosperity. From a small salaried reporter, 12 years ago, he has become a real estate owner and prosperous publisher. He should retire from politics and be happy.

DISLOYALTY

"May the trade unionists be right but whether right or wrong, I am with the trade unionists."

This is the declaration of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, now in session at Denver.

It is a startling statement from a man who professes to represent the highest ideals of organized labor, and if endorsed by the federation means disloyalty of pronounced type.

That Gompers talks by the card, however, has long been apparent, for in almost every article that occurs, many employees, satisfied with wages and conditions and without a grievance, walk out, because their first allegiance is to the union.

This spirit has always been a source of weakness to the organization and a handicap to the individual worker. People have but little time for a sympathetic strike, and the man who is influenced by it, practically pays to his employer, "the interests of the union are of more importance to me than your interests," and so he is the first man to be laid off when times are slack, and the last to be employed when business improves.

The disposition to "stay by the unions, whether right or wrong," is the disposition which has caused all the trouble in the labor world, and it will continue to be the great disturbing element so long as it exists.

Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland has had his hand and paid the bill. Like a man, but now he is down and out. Financial failure resulted and his reforms have caused more annoyance than benefit to the people. His traction company is in the hands of a receiver, and the glory of his career is about the only thing left by way of satisfaction.

The fruit growers of Florida are asking for higher duties and more protection against Cuban and South American competition. Tariff revision is a many-sided proposition, as the commission is rapidly discovering. The people want cheap fruit, but American growers must be protected, and so it will go all along the line.

Candidates for state office are complaining about the expense of the primary law. There are many other objectionable features which should be legislated out of existence.

A Philadelphia man willing to his son-in-law 50 cents to buy a rope with which to hang himself. That seems like carrying a grudge across the line.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

Copyright, 1908, by Edwin A. Nye.

WALKING AS AN EXERCISE.

This heart to heart talk will be about the benefit of walking as an exercise and the why.

You know physicians recommend this as the best all around exercise known to them.

Why?

Let's put the matter in plain speech and print out the main words in capital letters:

In the first place, when you walk you RAISE THE TEMPERATURE OF YOUR BODY. It is like putting a lot of coal in the stove and opening the draft. There's something doing. Waste is being carried off and your muscles and nerves get needed nutriment when the temperature is raised.

Besides, you BREATHE MORE DEEPLY when you walk. And that puts more oxygen in your blood, and oxygen is LIFE.

And there's the skin. Millions of pores—little sewers—are opened up. Perspiration carries off waste, waste which if it stayed in your blood would poison you.

And your DIGESTION—walking aids that process and puts an edge on your appetite. And good digestion waits on appetite.

But that is not all.

There's your diaphragm. That useful thing is a sort of movable stage platform between the chest and the abdomen. It is raised or lowered by the contraction or swelling of the lungs. When the lungs are filled the diaphragm goes down and presses upon the liver, stomach and spleen.

Now—

This movement of the diaphragm up and down, especially down, is like a massage on the liver, stomach and spleen. The massage helps to keep those organs in good order, especially the liver. He who walks regularly and systematically will have no liver troubles.

Nothing is here said about the MENTAL BENEFITS—the exhilaration that comes from being in the open, the joy that comes in knowing that your whole organism is in good working order—and the reaction of the mind on the body.

Do you see? Especially that about the diaphragm?

It pays to walk, purely as a beneficial exercise, to say nothing of the enjoyment. It pays big.

He who constructed your body did not intend you to ride. He gave you two legs.

The following may be a revelation to many people of Southern Wisconsin, but facts are facts, and the purpose of our advertising is to give facts and news of our merchandise. Today it's Ladies' Fancy and Tailored Waists.

We mark the selling price in our waist department on the same margins as we do merchandise in other departments. This is not general; in other stores, tailored waists, in fact all waists, are marked at high prices when the are in style—and reduce prices when they are out of season or towards the last of the season.

Therefore we are making prices on our waists lower by 15 to 25 per cent than you will be able to duplicate elsewhere.

In white wool or cashmere waists we offer a range for selection from $2.50 to $3.75. They come in tailored effects, with long sleeves, embroidered, lace trimmed and plain tucked. All sizes.

One number in these waists is a beautiful cream colored waist, with broad shoulder effect, the new tucked front lapel with Cluny lace, sleeves with tucked cuffs, touched with lace, collar is high, with tucks running around the neck topped with lace. You will not find a more stylish waist than this at $2.75

In the Dressy Waists we offer a large assortment, no two alike, silk waists, not waists, crepe, satin and silk lace trimmed, in a range of prices from $3.25 to $10.00.

One number is particularly striking, a black net and lace waist over white Jap silk lining.

Another is a handsome dressy waist in palest of blue satin taffeta, or soft moesline, so much in vogue this season, elaborated with eyelet embroidery in beautiful design, having the new tucked sleeves, high collar. The broad effect is given to the shoulders by the deep lapel tucks. A very clever waist $8.50

Dark colored tailored waists in blues, browns, black, etc., in good assortment.

WHAT IS ALVEOLAR DENTISTRY?

Alveolar dentistry is just a new name for bridge work—simply a new name for an old method.

No Alveolar dentist attempts to put in teeth unless you have a few remaining teeth upon which to build the bridge work.

When you pay more than $5.00 to have a gold crown put on a tooth, whether it is called an Alveolar crown or by any other name, you pay too much.

I charge $5.00 for gold crowns, and it is sufficient for any dentist to charge—this means for the best work it is possible to do.

Call any time as you go by, and talk the matter over—you will not be obliged to have the work done.

MINNEAPOLIS CHURCH WANTS MR. DENISON

Congregational Pastor Receives Flat-tering Offer from Minn.
sota City.

Reverend H. C. Denison has under consideration a flattering offer from the Laurel Hill Congregational church of Minneapolis to become their pastor. A prominent Chicago church has also made overtures to him that may lead later to a call to one of the largest and most influential of the Congregational churches of the Windy City.

Mr. Denison stated this afternoon that he had received a call from the Minneapolis church, but had heard nothing definite from the Chicago one and was not prepared to state what his determination would be. He said that it would be ten days at least before he could state anything definite relative to either offer.

Mr. Denison has had several calls to important churches since he became pastor of the local church, but thus far for Janesville has been able to keep him here. Indications, however, appear that the two offers he has received are of such a nature that he may decide to accept one of them.

STORY HOUR AT THE LIBRARY SATURDAY

Innovation at the City Library for Young People That is Proving Most Interesting.

Tomorrow is the third Saturday for the children's "Story Hour" at the city library and the children of all the city schools are invited to attend. This innovation for the little people of the city has proven a most successful Saturday morning recreation and the interest displayed by the children has encouraged the librarians and their volunteer assistants to continue the labor of love.

Saturday Miss Callahan and Miss Ladden of the Webster school will assist Miss Rowe, and Miss Buckmaster will also be present to take care of the reading and answer them with tales if the number increases as it has in the past.

Fairy tales, folklore, mythological and allegorical stories are told these little people and some older ones, who have evinced much interest in the hour. Tomorrow a Thanksgiving story is to be told as well and the hour promises much pleasure for the happy little gathering.

man for the daughter of a Russian officer who killed his family at Kishinef is said to lead to one of the finest dramatic situations that the stage has to offer. The principal figure of the drama is a young musician, a composer of highly sensitive nature, and a type that lends itself to the emotionalities necessary to display the powers of an actor. It is said to fit Mr. Whiteside like a glove, and has given him the opportunity for which he has been waiting for years. The part of David gives him a chance to demonstrate his ability. Messrs. Lohley & company, under whose direction this play is produced, have surrounded Mr. Whiteside with a most capable company of players, which includes John Blair, Grant Stewart, Henry Bergman, Henry Vogel, Chrystal Horne, Leonora Von Ottinger, Louise Muldener and others. The original production direct from the Grand Opera-house, Chicago, will be seen here at Myers theatre Monday evening, Nov. 23. The sale of seats opens Saturday morning.

SWEAR THAT LAMPHERE VIRTUALLY CONFESSED

Deputy Sheriff's Testimony to Defendant's Damaging Admissions Concerning the Guinness House Fire.

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 20.—Deputy Sheriff Marr and Anstine were the most important witnesses Thursday in the Lamphere trial and both told of statements made by Ray Lamphere which were virtually partial confessions that he set fire to the Guinness farmhouse.

Sheriff Smutzer, who was on the stand part of the day, told of his efforts to unravel the Guinness mystery and the clues which he followed. The Trueman chase to Texas was brought in and exposed as a clever scheme worked by a man in jail in Texas who thought he would be able to escape his troubles there by confessing that he was an accomplice of Mrs. Guinness.

During the cross-examination of Sheriff Smutzer, Attorney Worden for the defense, by his questions, tried to throw suspicion upon the officer, intimating in particular that Sheriff Smutzer had been at the Guinness place in his automobile before the fire. On re-direct examination Prosecutor Smith asked Sheriff Smutzer if his automobile had ever been at the Guinness place before the fire. The answer was: "No." The state's attorney then asked:

"Is there in town any automobile like yours?"
To this the sheriff replied: "Yes, Attorney Worden has one."
Deputy Sheriff Leroy Marr was then called. He testified that on the evening of April 23 he went to the home of John Wheatbrook to arrest Ray Lamphere. Just as Marr entered the gate Lamphere came out of the door. Marr testified that he said: "Ray, get on your coat and go to town with me." Lamphere's reply was: "Did those three children and that woman get out of the building?" Marr asked: "What building?" Lamphere answered: "That building near town."

Deputy Sheriff Anstine testified that when he talked to Lamphere about the Guinness fire the prisoner said he would plead guilty to arson if it were not for his poor mother.

MINE SHAFT WRECKED.

Disastrous Accident at a Colliery Near Edwardsville, Ill.

Edwardsville, Ill., Nov. 20.—Two loaded cages in the Korens Donnewald coal mine, nine miles north of Edwardsville, collapsed Thursday afternoon, carrying with them to the bottom of the mine the entire hoisting apparatus and top works.

Two hundred men were in the mine at the time of the accident, but all escaped injury and made their way out through the air shaft. The accident is believed to have been caused by the overloading of the cages, and the loss is estimated at $8,000. The mine is owned by the McKinley syndicate, which operates the Illinois Traction system.

Wisconsin has the best spirit now since 1905. Successfully passing through a period of student unrest, brought about by the fact that the conference legislation of 1906 reduced the strong team of 1905 to one man, sentiment is now united.

Little by little the situation has been improved, and when Minnesota came to Madison last fall anticipating a victory of 40-0, the result astonished the football world. It was peculiarly termed, "Wisconsin 17, Cannon 12, Minnesota 5."

The season of 1908 was not full of promise, due chiefly to the lack of material for the line. In the Lawrence game modern football was the order of play and Wisconsin unfolded a variety of forward passes, short kicks and dashes outside of tackle which took the Lawrence team completely off its feet. This large score following closely upon Lawrence's good game against Minnesota boosted Wisconsin stock out of proportion, as has been demonstrated by the two games against Indiana and Marquette. It is true that Wisconsin did not display the form in the two later games that it did against Lawrence.

JOHNSON IS BROKE

Mayor of Cleveland Says All His Money Is Gone.

HE IS BRAVE IN MISFORTUNE

Will Give Up Handsome Home and All Luxuries and Begin Again—Ruined by Attempting to Conserve Dead Brother's Estate.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 20.—Tom L. Johnson, mayor of Cleveland, is broke. He said so himself Thursday, declaring that all his fortune, supposed to have been very large, was gone and that he would have to give up his Euclid avenue mansion.

The mayor also stated that he would give up his automobiles and other luxuries because he could no longer afford to keep them.

His fortune was wrecked, he declared, by his devotion to the affairs of the estate of his dead brother Albert, who was heavily interested in traction properties in the east.

Wouldn't Abandon His Office.

After Albert's death a question was put up to him whether he should resign his office as mayor and take up the management of Albert's estate.

"I decided that I would not," said Mr. Johnson. "I had entered the fight in this city with certain ideals before me. I wanted to fight privilege and special interest, and I had already decided to give up working for dollars. So I concluded to stay right here and do what I could to help my brother's children at long distance.

"Why did I choose the course I did? I'll tell you. It's not because I'm a philanthropist, for I'm not. I acted from a purely selfish motive. I wanted happiness, and nothing else, when I closed up my business affairs and took up civic activity.

"And I've been happy, too. The past seven years have been the best of my life, leaving out of consideration the loss of my brother.

Doesn't Fear His Enemies.

"I'm going to be happy yet, too. We may have to go back to a cottage, but that's the way we started, and we can look upon life just as joyfully there as we did in the big house on Euclid avenue. They tell me my enemies are planning to bring financial trouble upon me. I've been expecting it. There's one mistake I haven't made—that of failing to foresee the efforts of those who would like to destroy me if opportunity presented.

"Let them do what they may. Let them make any sort of attack upon me that they choose, with whatever success, and they will find me with a thousand fights left in me.

"I'll never give up. I'm well and strong and confident, and they'll always find me at the front.

"If I had been a coward—if I had run away from this fight for the people of Cleveland—I could have saved my fortune and built it up. But I had chosen my course, and I did not have any mind for altering it.

Not Merely After Money.

"The pursuit of mere dollars doesn't interest me. I suppose I could go down in Wall street now and make some money. I've bought and sold with J. H. Harriman, and I suppose I could go to it again. But I'm not going to do anything of the sort.

"I don't want you to misunderstand what I have been working for as mayor. I haven't been laboring with the expectation of being rewarded by the gratitude of the people. One cannot count on that. It's pleasure in doing work that I like that has kept me in the fight.

"I have never made a single penny out of the street railways since I became mayor. Nobody else has worked as hard as I, and I haven't drawn a cent of pay from the Municipal Traction Company as treasurer. I don't propose to ask a cent for my work in helping the receivers.

"I have never spent money in politics. In no campaign have I ever paid more than my assessment, $600, on the $6,000 salary of mayor. Sometimes I have not paid that much in cash, when the committee has allowed me a certain amount for the use of my tent. We have never been in debt at the end of a campaign but once."

Evidence of Opium Plot.

Manila, Nov. 20.—Evidence of an extensive plot to smuggle opium here from China have been discovered. A fortnight ago workmen employed on the military buildings at Camp Stotzemberg discovered a quantity of opium concealed in cement which had been shipped from Hongkong. Workmen engaged on the Manila forts opened a supposed barrel of cement and found it to be half full of opium.

RECORD TOBACCO SALE CLOSED IN KENTUCKY

American Company Purchases the Burley Association's Pooled Leaf for About $14,000,000.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 20.—The greatest transaction in leaf tobacco ever made in America was closed Thursday, when the Burley Tobacco society sold to the American Tobacco Company the crop of 1908 and part of that of 1907. The American company pays an average of 20½ cents a pound for the former and 17 cents for the latter.

The deal involves nearly 80,000,000 pounds of tobacco held in the pool by the Burley Tobacco society and an outlay of something like $14,000,000 on the part of the American Tobacco company, practically all of this money being placed in circulation at once in central Kentucky.

The tobacco which was sold includes the larger part of the holdings of the Burley Tobacco Growers' association, which was formed several years ago and which pooled its crops in 1906 and 1907. There was no crop raised by the members of the association in 1908, though a number of independent growers raised large crops in central Kentucky under guard. According to many who are in a position to know, the sale of the pooled crop will mark the end of night riding in central and eastern Kentucky, at least for the present, as it is thought with these crops out of the way practically all the growers will raise tobacco next year. The sale has nothing to do with the crops in the Dark district or western portion of Kentucky and northern Tennessee.

RIDGELEY QUITS THE BANK.

Control of Kansas City Institution Passes to Dr. Woods.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 20.—At the close of business Thursday afternoon William Barrett Ridgeley, president; George T. Cutler, vice-president, and Edward Ridgeley, cashier, presented their resignations to the board of directors of the National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City, and they were accepted. Dr. W. S. Woods, the president of the bank, and his associates immediately assumed control.

Dr. Woods was elected president, but declined the office, and a committee was named to select a president. James T. Bradley of Sedan, Kan., was elected cashier.

RICH FIND OF DREDGERS.

Skeleton of Mammoth Is Discovered in Lake Minnetonka.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—A crew deepening and widening the channel of Huntington Point, Lake Minnetonka, has unearthed a part of a skeleton of a mammoth.

The men had dredged 30 feet to coarse sand. A gigantic hip-bone was first brought to light. This was followed by the bone of a leg, and then came eight vertebrae, which had lain far under the water undisturbed for centuries. Scientists at the university will make an effort to have the bones turned over to the university.

GETS CAIRO TRACTION SYSTEM.

McKinley Syndicate Obtains Franchise and Will Build New Lines.

Cairo, Ill., Nov. 20.—The Cairo city council Thursday granted a 50-year interurban franchise and a 20-year street railway franchise to the McKinley syndicate. This syndicate has already bought the local electric street railway, the electric light plant, and the Cairo City Gas Company.

An interurban line will be built to connect Cairo with Mounds, Mound City and Villa Ridge, and will later extend to St. Louis.

Chauffeur Killed; Several Hurt.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Noble Davis, a chauffeur, was killed and several others were injured by the overturning of an automobile near Hyattsville, Md., late Thursday night. The automobile was owned by Joseph Strasburger, a merchant of this city, and Davis, who was his chauffeur, had taken out a party of his friends in the machine.

Murder in Home for the Aged.

Washington, Nov. 20.—As the result of an altercation over an infraction of one of the house rules of the home for the aged and infirm, George Mason, aged 74, at one time a prominent patent attorney of this city, but for about ten years past an inmate of the home, Thursday shot and killed Martin McCrossin, aged 66, who was in charge of one of the dormitories.

Grigg Confesses Road Murder.

Vincennes, N. J., Nov. 20.—The circumstances surrounding the murder of aged William Reed last Friday night apparently were made clear Thursday by the confession in Philadelphia of Herbert Grigg, who with Walter Zeller, Reed's grandson, and Cline Wheeler were arrested for the crime.

Found Dead in a Chair.

Zanesville, O., Nov. 20.—Scented upright in a chair by the side of his bed, the body of Charles H. Sawyer, a traveling salesman of Jackson, Mich., was found in a room of his hotel in this city Thursday. Death was probably caused by heart disease.

STOCK PEST RAGES

Pennsylvania and New York Put Under Quarantine.

EAST BUFFALO YARDS CLOSED

Cattle with the Foot and Mouth Disease Shipped from There—Federal and State Authorities Are Aroused to Vigorous Measures.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Federal and state authorities Thursday ordered the great stock yards at East Buffalo closed until they have been thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, because an outbreak of the dreaded foot and mouth disease in western Pennsylvania has been traced to the shipment from here of two carloads of cattle that were infected with the pest. This market may be under the ban for weeks.

Two States Quarantined.

As a direct result of the conditions growing out of the investigation of the Pennsylvania shipment the word came Thursday from the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture ordering the entire states of New York and Pennsylvania to be quarantined. Pennsylvania's state authorities have declared a quarantine against New York state, and Thursday night Commissioner Pearson of the department of agriculture of this state ordered that a strict quarantine be placed on five counties in western New York, namely, Erie, Niagara, Orleans, Wyoming and Genesee.

Animals infected with the foot and mouth disease have been discovered in each of these counties by government inspectors who have been quietly at work for over a week. Practically all the cases, it is said, have been traced back to Buffalo.

Vigorous Crusade Started.

Chief Melvin of the Washington bureau has been here in personal charge of the crusade to stamp out the disease, and under him are working a score of inspectors from the federal bureau of animal industry.

The federal quarantine will apply to all cattle in this state and Pennsylvania, and no one is prepared to say how long it will last. Over 200 men were put to work Friday on the East Buffalo yards disinfecting every inch of ground. This work will take at least three weeks. The state department's quarantine will be very strict.

There were 80 animals in the two carloads of yearlings which caused the trouble. Dr. B. P. Wende, chief inspector in the Buffalo branch of the federal bureau of animal industry, has a clue that they came from Michigan.

Disease Spread by Sparrows.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Prompt measures to fight a threatened epidemic in this state of foot and mouth disease are being taken by the state department of agriculture, following upon the receipt of reports that the disease had obtained a footing at some 12 points in Erie and Niagara counties. It is supposed the disease was brought to this state through the Buffalo stock yards.

It is thought that the poisons thrown off by afflicted animals have been transmitted to other healthy beasts through barnyard birds, principally sparrows, and Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture Flinders asked the state forest, fish and game department if a permit to poison sparrows in infected territory could be secured. It was told that if it could be demonstrated with reasonable certainty that sparrows were agents of transmission of the disease the fish and game protectors would not interfere in a warfare against them.

GOES CRAZY AND KILLS.

Kentucky Farmer Slays Nephew and Himself Shot.

Danville, Ky., Nov. 20.—Hugh Thompson, a wealthy young farmer, became suddenly insane Thursday and shot and killed his nephew, Frederick Garrison, aged 18 years.

The boy after being shot fired one shot at his uncle, the bullet lodging in a lower limb. The wound, it is believed, will prove fatal because of the large amount of blood lost. Thompson had only recently been released from an insane asylum.

Yost May Leave Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 20.—In regard to rumors that he would not remain with the University of Michigan after the conclusion of his present contract as coach of the football team, Coach Fiddling H. Yost said over the long-distance telephone from Ann Arbor Thursday night that there had been no talk or negotiations regarding a coach to succeed him. He said that he would remain until the conclusion of his contract, which means that he will coach next year's team.

Armed Moros Are Gathering.

Choyenne, Wyo.—The Transmissian Dry Farming congress, which meets here in February, is planning great things in the conservation and development of the west.

Governor Brooks of this state, the ex-president of the congress, and the present secretary, Fisher Harris, have been especially active, and to them much credit is due for the results already obtained.

A few years ago so-called "dry farming" began to attract attention. Many farmers had been securing splendid results without irrigation, but there existed a general belief that such results were but the result of cleverly manipulated, small results, and that no real significance attached to those isolated instances.

Mountain Prof. H. M. Campbell of Nebraska had been conducting a series of experiments along scientific lines, and had succeeded in making tests and getting crops that proved something tangible in the way of argument. These results became known to J. P. Pomroy of Colorado Springs, who owned several thousand acres of western Kansas land, and Professor Campbell was quickly installed upon an experiment farm at Hill City, Kan. The demonstrations of the first three years produced results that fixed the status of "dry farming" and forced the price of unfertilized lands upward year by year.

Great good followed all this effort but in some instances it was found that immigration agents were rushing homesteaders upon the arid places regardless of soil conditions.

Colorado enthusiasts who had watched the cactus and sagebrush give way to waving grain fields also saw the necessity of organizing an educational propaganda through which the world at large might be educated as to the actual conditions under which so-called dry farming can be made successful.

A meeting of "dry farmers" was called by the governor of Colorado in January, 1907, and more than 300 accredited delegates, government and state experts and prominent development men were present, and the Transmissian Dry Farming congress was organized with Fisher Harris of Salt Lake City as president.

At the second congress in Salt Lake last January Gov. H. B. Brooks of Wyoming was elected president, and the headquarters for the third congress fixed at Cheyenne.

The board of control is a move to enlarge the work of the congress, and to appoint to membership. Already the board has started out to make the congress international in character, and its institutions are being sent out to all foreign nations interested in dry farm agriculture to send delegates.

The board and congress, working together, have undertaken to issue publications to farmers giving all information about scientific farming possible to assemble; to organize a bureau of information, publish maps, and, in fact, to carry on a great co-operative school for farmers and exports during the next few years.

The third Transmissian Dry Farming congress will be held in Cheyenne February 23, 24 and 25, 1909, and 1,000 delegates are expected.

THEY INJURE CHILDREN

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are too apt to do more harm than good. They cause griping, nausea, and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health destroying and a life-lasting annoyance.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall's Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy for constipation and associated bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the supreme virtues of this remedy that we will on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall's Orderlies contain an entirely new ingredient which is odorless, tasteless and colorless. It embraces all the best qualities of the soothing, laxative, strengthening and healing remedial active principles of the best known intestinal regulator tonics.

Rexall's Orderlies are extremely pleasant to take, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very natural action upon the glands and organs with which they come in contact, act as a positive and regulative tonic upon the relaxed, dry muscular coat of the bowel, remove irritation, dryness and soreness, overcome weakness, and tone and strengthen the nerves and muscles, and restore the bowels and associated organs to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall's Orderlies not only cure constipation, but they remove the cause of this ailment. They also overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition.

There is really no similar medicine so good as Rexall's Orderlies, especially for children, aged and delicate persons. They are prepared in tablet form and in two sizes of packages; 12 tablets, 10c, and 36 tablets, 25c. The Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis.

SHALLENBERGER'S LEG BROKEN.

Would You Like to Improve Your Complexion?

How Many Women Are Bringing the Glow of Health to Their Faces With Home Treatment and at Small Cost.

(From Chicago Record-Herald)

The following wash has accomplished wonders with the complexion of thousands of women throughout this country. It is perfectly harmless to the tenderest skin and its beneficial effects can be seen immediately upon beginning its use. Obtain at your drug store Rose Water 2 ounces; Cologne Spirits, 1 ounce; Epsom salts, 4 ounces. Put the Epsom salts in a pint of hot water (not boiling), and after dissolved, strain and let cool. Then add the Rose water and Cologne Spirits.

One of the best features about this toilet preparation is that it can be easily and conveniently prepared at home, thereby keeping a supply of it at all times upon the toilet table. It is really remarkable how it transforms homely faces into those fresh, charming complexions that are the admiration of all beholders.

Item Welcomed By Many Men

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup, sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balsam; mix, and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadumence; (not cardamon), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well-known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force, which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

THE SLEEPING SICKNESS WHICH MEANS DEATH

How many readers have heard of this terrible disease? It prevails in that far-away country—Africa—especially the Congo district. It is caused by the bite of the tsetse fly. When it bites a person, the sleeping symptoms begin and finally the sufferer sleeps until death occurs.

Contrast this with the peaceful, balmy sleep of health. Is there anything more wearing than to be awake at night, tossing about, nervous, with cold feet, hot head and mopey knees what else? Short of letting the tsetse fly bite us we would do almost anything for relief. How can we prevent it? Mr. George Haynes, of Union City, Pa., writes: "I had lost my appetite, was all run-down, could not sleep nights. I had tried everything without relief. Vinol was recommended, and to my surprise, it helped me at once; gave me a splendid appetite, and now I sleep soundly."

What Vinol did for Mr. Haynes, it will do for every run-down, nervous and overworked person who cannot sleep.

ARE PREPARING FOR SUPPER AND DANCESt. Paul's Catholic Society Will Give Big Social Event on Next Wednesday Night.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evening, Nov. 19.—Extensive plans are being made by the society of St. Paul's Catholic church for the annual dance and supper to be held next Wednesday evening, Nov. 25. No pains will be spared to make this event a very enjoyable occasion. The supper will be served in Baker's hall beginning at 7:30 o'clock and everybody is cordially invited. The menu will be as follows: Escalloped chicken, mashed potatoes, biscuits, baked fruit, cold ham, jelly, cabbage and lettuce, pickles, cake, cheese, tea and coffee. The dance will take place in Baker's hall.

A son named John, the home of Mr.
and Mrs. Charles Langhman and Miss Grace, will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Langhman, 1908, Nov. 19.
R. D. Barnard and son, R. P. Barnard, and Master Lloyd Barnard, son of G. C. Barnard, have been spending the last two days consulting John "Till" near Turtle Creek.

The Royal Neighbors' coffee held at the country home of Mrs. Clyde Courtier, Wednesday, was well attended.
About fifty were present.

Mrs. P. J. Lowth spent yesterday in Janesville.
Mrs. Charles Langhman and Miss Grace, will be expected from Deloit tomorrow and will remain over Thanksgiving with relatives.

Mrs. Little Eldon is on the sick list.
Mrs. E. Reckord and son, Lewis, are spending today with Rockford friends.
John Cleaver went to Edgerton to day to install a new lighting plant in one of the business houses.

There was a large attendance at the W. R. C. chicken-pie supper Wednesday evening and the ladies fully appreciated the patronage they received.
During the winter months the corps has occasion to assist many needy ones in our town, and the people in general are very good in attending the suppers, etc., given by the ladies.

The Misses Allen and Anna Van Wormer and Little Miss Hazel Van Wormer spent Sunday with relatives in Deloit.

Mrs. Lyman Johnson was a recent Madison visitor.
J. C. Wehley has been entertaining his mother and father and sister of Richland Center this week.

Mrs. E. H. Libby is confined to the house by illness.
A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Patterson, Wednesday,
Nov. 18.

Mrs. George Wolfe, Sr., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. H. Hile, in Madison.

Mrs. Jay Murray of Footville visited relatives here yesterday.
Mrs. M. Dabney of Madison is spending today with her daughter, Mrs. Maud Rogers.

Mr. Price of Albany was a guest of his sister, Mrs. Anna Weaver, Wednesday.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott.Nov. 22nd, 1908.
Solomon Anointed King.—1 Kings
1:1-12.

Golden Text.—Know thou the God of thy father, and serve him with a perfect heart and with a willing mind.
1 Chron. xxviii:3.

Verses 1-12.—How old was David, and had he any right to be a decried old man at such an age?

What can we say of the advisers of the old king, marrying him with "one foot in the grave," to this young and fair maiden?

Was God in those days ever pleased with things which grieve him in these days?

Verses 5-10.—How do you explain the fact that Absalom and Adonijah, sons of the same father and very handsome men, both turned traitors to their father and to the plans of God?
(This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.) ...

Are unusual good looks and ability, generally a help or a hindrance to character?

If Absalom and Adonijah, had not been pampered and petted by their father and mother, but had been properly trained, what would have been the probability as to their characters?

Here are two priests, one on the side of the usurper, and the other on the side of the constituted ruler successor; is it thinkable that they were both men of God?

Would it have been possible then,
and is it possible now, for a true follower of God, to take sides with those who are opposing the plans of God?

Verses 11-12.—Who was Bathsheba before she was the wife of David?
Notwithstanding the circumstances young man who had engaged in business in the western city but a short time. He was stricken with heart disease not long ago and his father, A.

M. Hule, of the town of Janesville, and the young woman whom he was to have married hastened to his residence and were with him when the decease came. The deceased was but 21 years of age.

Will Give Program
AT REGULAR MEETING
Afton Literary Society Plans For Thanksgiving Program at Tuesday Meeting.

Afton, Nov. 19.—A Thanksgiving program will be given at the regular meeting of the literary society, to be held at the home of C. E. Dehling next Tuesday evening. Songs and recitations appropriate to this popular holiday will be rendered, the roll call will be responded to with "Thanksgiving sentiments and Miss Mary E.
Denoyer will read a paper on the origin and observance of Thanksgiving Day. The society elected president of the society, Otto E. Dehling, will preside and N. E. Miller will give the current news report. At the first meeting of the society, held last week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Otto E.
Dehling; vice president, Roy Antsdel; secretary, Miss Emma Drafa. The new executive committee comprises these officers together with the following members: David Throne, O. D.
Antsdel, Ethel E. Soper, Hazel I. Palmer, and E. G. Walter, with Mr.
Throne as chairman of the committee. It was decided not to take up any special course of study this winter, but to vary the program for each meeting, and already the executive committee has planned "An evening with Famous Women," a "Lincoln Centennial" meeting and is arranging for a lively debate early in the session. The year opens most auspiciously for the society and the outlook is promising for a very successful series of meetings.

Once more the Ladies' Aid society comes to the front with an announcement, and an important one it is too, being nothing less than the date for the holding of the annual bazaar, which has come to be recognized as the event par excellence of this popular organization. Wednesday evening, December 24th, is the date selected and Brinkman's hall will be the scene of activities, as usual. There will be a profusion of wares displayed for sale on this occasion, the members of the society already having many articles, both of use and beauty in readiness for the event. The society met last Wednesday with Miss E.
C. Dehling and will meet again on Tuesday of next week at 10 a. m., with Mrs. A. W. Stark. Every member who can should plan to be present next Tuesday, as there will be plenty of unfinished work for all.

A "Muller" furnace is being installed in the Baptist church here by H. L. McNamara & Sons of Janesville, and it is expected that it will be ready for use next Sunday.

WHEELLOCK JUMPED
FROM CAR-WINDOWThirteen-year Old Youth Resorted to Daring Expedient to Escape Going Back to Reformatory.

In an effort to escape going back to the Waukesha industrial school, thirteen-year-old Earl Wheellock jumped from a car-window as the 4:45 eastbound St. Paul passenger, going at the rate of 10 miles an hour, swept around a sharp curve two miles north of the city yesterday afternoon. Officer K.
C. Dousman, who came here to get the boy, had given him permission to go to the toilet room. Young Wheellock had complained of severe pain and when the collections custodian presently rapped on the door and made some inquiries he received no answer. As he opened the portal he had a glimpse of a small pair of hands clinging to the window ledge but they disappeared before he could cross the threshold.

Peering out the open window the officer saw the footfalls youth strike the ground on his hips and then the ears rounded the curve and he was lost to view. The train had gone on nearly a mile when Conductor James Dea brought it to a stop. Mr. Dous-man hastened back to the spot expecting to find his ward dead or terribly injured but no trace of him could be found. A farmer who chanced to be in that neighborhood said that he had seen a boy running down the track towards Janesville about that time but was unable to give any definite description.

The passenger train went on to Milton with an overcast which Mr. Dous-man had left behind in his excitement.
When the matter was reported to the police station, Chief Appleby sent Officer Manning to the scene but the search brought forth no results.

"The Wheellock boy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wheellock who reside in one of the little brick houses on North Franklin street, adjoining the Marzoff factory. He was committed to the reformatory last year for participation with some other youngsters in the theft of a watch and a small sum of money but good behavior secured for him a release on parole about four months ago. Trust Officer Barnham complained that he did not attend school and was keeping other boys away and after the Waukesha authorities had been informed, Officers Mason and Morrissey visited his home early yesterday morning and took him into custody.

Liquozone Antiquate Soap, we have in the past made several special sales, offering 50c worth for 25c. A great many people have taken advantage of this offer, but we realize that there are still at least 1500 homes that are not using Liquozone Soap and knowing full well that once you get acquainted with it, you will use no other, we have arranged with the manufacturer to continue the offer until further notice. The offer is this:

90c Worth for 25c
Six bars of Liquozone Toilet Soap, which has always sold at 15c a cake, and worth it, is to be offered for 25c. It is claimed by the manufacturers to be the best toilet soap made.

We will also offer the Ligo-zone Shaving Soap, regular price 10c, at 4c per cake.
Shaving Sticks, regular price, 25c, at 10c.

These soaps cannot be bought

CLEAR THE COMPLEXION OVERNIGHT
Pimples, Rash, Eruptions, Etc., Quickly Eradicated by New Skin Remedy.

Since its discovery one year ago, podium, the new skin remedy, has, in its extraordinary accomplishments, exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the eminent specialist who gave it to the world. It has cured thousands of cases of eczema and eradicated facial and other disfiguments of years' standing. The terrible itching attending eczema is stopped with the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, eczema, barber's itch, etc., results show after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. Those who use posham for these minor skin troubles can now avail themselves of the special 50-cent package, recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2 jar may now be obtained in Janesville at Helm-streets, the South Drug Co., People's Drug Co., and other leading drug stores.

Samples for experimental purposes may be had free of charge by writing

Naphtha Loosens The Dirt.

Soap cleans. That is how P. & G. Naphtha Soap does its work.

The naphtha in it, by loosening the dirt, makes it easy for the soap to do the work it is intended to do—cleanse.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap would clean just as thoroughly as it does, if it contained no naphtha at all; but it would take more time and more work.

Naphtha and good soap make an ideal combination—a combination that does away with half the work and practically all the discomfort of wash day; and makes it possible for a woman to do as much work in 4 or 5 hours as now takes twice that long.

Boiling of clothes, with all its attendant annoyances, is a thing of the past with women who use P. & G. Naphtha Soap. So is nine-tenths of the hard work over the washboard.

"I think," she said, "that you mean my ruin. My mind has become curiously clear during the last year—strangely and unusually simple and precise. Why, my poor friend, every plot of yours and of your friends, every underhand attempt to discredit and injure me, has been perfectly apparent to me. You supposed that my headaches, my outbursts of anger, my wretched nights, passed in tears, and the long, long days spent kneeling in the ashes of dead memories, all these you supposed had weakened, perhaps unsettled, my mind. You did not know I was aware of it, did you? But I was, and I am. And you told them that my father died of—of brain trouble, you know! What a creditable fool you are," she said, "to build your hopes of a separation on any possible mental disability of mine!"

He stood a moment without answering, then quietly seated himself. The suspicious glimmer in his faded eyes had become the concentration of a curiosity almost apprehensive.

"Go on," he said. "What else?"

"For the remainder of the spring and summer," she said, "I shall make my plans regardless of you. I shall not go to Newport. You are at liberty to use the house there as you choose. And, as for this incident with Sarah, you had better not pursue it any further. Do you understand?"

He nodded, dropping his hands into his coat pockets.

"Now you may go," she said coolly.

He went, not, however, to his room, but straight to the house of the fashionable physician who ministered to wealth with an unctious and success that had permitted him in summer time to occupy his own villa at Newport and dispense further ministrations when requested.

On the night of the conjugal conference between Nina Gerard and her husband and almost at the same hour Jack Ruthven, hard hit in the card room of the Stuyvesant club, sat huddled over the table, figuring up what sort of checks he was to draw to the credit of George Fane and Samson Orrell.

And now as he sat there, pencil in hand, adding up the score cards he remembered that he was to interview his attorney that evening at his own home, a late appointment, but necessary to insure the presence of one or two physicians at a consultation to definitely decide what course of action might be taken to rid himself of the wife who had proved useless and almost ruinous to him.

He had not laid eyes on his wife that summer, but for the first time he had really had her watched during her absence. What she lived on, how she managed, he had not the least idea and less concern. All he knew was that he had contributed nothing, and he was quite certain that her balance at her own bank had been nonexistent for months. In the autumn he had heard of her conduct at Hitherwood House, and a week later, to his astonishment, he learned of her serious illness and that she had been taken to Clifton. It was the only satisfactory news he had had of her in months.

When he had finished his figuring he fished out a check book, detached a tiny gold fountain pen from the bunch of seals and inkblotter on his watch chain and, filling in the checks, passed them over without comment.

As they filed out of the card room into the dim passageway, Orrell leading a tall, shadowy figure in evening dress stepped back from the door of the card room against the wall to give them right of way, and Orrell, peering at him without recognition in the dim light, bowed gravely as he passed, as did Fane, craning his curved neck, and Harmon also, who followed in his wake.

But when Ruthven came abreast of the figure in the passageway and bowed his way past a low voice from the courteous unknown, pronouncing his name, halted him short.

"I want a word with you, Mr. Ruthven," added Selwyn, "that card room will wait me, if you please."

But Ruthven, recovering from the shock of Selwyn's voice, started to pass him without a word.

"I said that I wanted to speak to you!" repeated Selwyn.

Ruthven, deigning no reply, attempted to shove by him, and Selwyn, pushing him violently back into the card room.

pleasure of using it on you if you ever commenced any such action for divorce or separation against your wife. This is final."

Ruthven stared at him as though hypnotized.

"Don't mistake me," added Selwyn, a trifle wearily. "I am not compelling you to decency for the purpose of punishing you. Men never trouble themselves to punish women. They simply exterminate them or they retreat and avoid them. I merely mean that you shall never again bring publicity and shame upon your wife, even though now, mercifully enough, she has not the faintest idea that you are what a complacent law calls her husband."

A slow blaze lighted up his eyes, and he got up from his chair.

"You decadent little beast!" he said slowly. "Do you suppose that the dirty accident of your intrusion into an honest man's life could divorce the ing one hand set against the other shoulder, pushed him violently back into the card room he had just left and, stepping in behind him, closed and locked the door.

"What the devil do you mean?" gasped Ruthven, his head, minutely shaven face turning a deep red.

"What I say," replied Selwyn—"that I want a word or two with you."

He stood still for a moment in the center of the little room, tall, gaunt of feature and very pale.

"Ruthven," he said, "a few years ago you persuaded my wife to leave me, and I have never punished you. There were two reasons why I did not. The first was because I did not wish to punish her, and any blow at you would have reached her heavily. The second reason, subordinate to the first, is obvious—decent men in these days have tacitly agreed to suspend a violent appeal to the unwritten law as a concession to civilization. This second reason, however, depends entirely upon the first, as you see."

"I have—ah—divided you here to explain to you the present condition of your own domestic affairs"—he looked at Ruthven full in the face—"to explain them to you and to lay down for you the course of conduct which you are to follow."

"By God!" began Ruthven, stepping back, one hand reaching for the door-knob, but Selwyn's voice rang out clear and sharp:

"Sit down!"

And, as Ruthven glared at him out of his little eyes, "You'd better sit down, I think," said Selwyn softly.

Ruthven turned, took two unsteady steps forward and laid his heavily ringed hand on the back of a chair. Selwyn smiled, and Ruthven sat down.

"Now," continued Selwyn, "for certain rules of conduct to govern you during the remainder of your wife's lifetime. And your wife is ill, Mr. Ruthven—sick of a sickness which may last for a great many years or may be terminated in as many days. Did you know it?"

Ruthven snarled.

"Yes, of course you know it, or you suspected it. Your wife is in a sanatorium, as you have discovered. She is mentally ill—rational at times, violent at moments and for long periods quite docile, gentle, harmless, content to be talked to, read to, advised, persuaded. But during the last week a change of a certain nature has occurred which—which, I am told by competent physicians, not only renders her case beyond all hope of ultimate recovery, but threatens an earlier termination than was at first looked for. It is this: Your wife has become like a child again, occupied contentedly and happily with childish things. She has forgotten much. Her memory is quite gone. How much she does remember it is impossible to say."

His head fell. His brooding eyes were fixed on the rug at his feet. After awhile he looked up.

"I understand that you are contemplating proceedings against your wife. Are you?"

"Yes, I am," said Ruthven.

"On the grounds of her mental incapacity?"

"Yes."

"Then, as I understand it, the woman whom you persuaded to break every law, human and divine, for your sake you now propose to abandon. Is that it?"

Ruthven made no reply.

"You propose to publish her pitiable plight to the world by beginning proceedings. You intend to notify the public of your wife's infirmity by divorcing her."

"Same or insane," burst out Ruthven, "she was riding for a fall, and she's going to get it! What the devil are you talking about? I'm not accountable to you. I'll do what I please. I'll manage my own affairs."

"No," said Selwyn. "I'll manage this particular affair. And now I'll tell you how I'm going to do it. I have in my lodgings, or, rather, in the small hall bedroom which I now occupy, an army service revolver in fairly good condition. I shall give myself the

Ruthven stared at him as though hypnotized.

divine compact of wedlock? Not it—yes, beautiful, it renders it superlatively unclean, unfit, unbecoming—yes, but neither you nor your wife who nor the law the law you invoked to legalize the situation really ever deprived me of my irrevocable status and responsibility. My wife, shamed or unshamed, humbled or unhumbled, true to her marriage vows or false to them, now legally the wife of another, has never ceased to be my wife."

He turned on his heel, paced the little room once or twice, then swung round again:

"Keep your filthy money, wrung from women and boys over card tables. Even if some blind, wormlike process of instinct stirred the shame in you and you ventured to offer belated aid to the woman who bears your name I forbid it; I do not permit you the privilege, except that she retains your name, and the moment you attempt to rob her of that I will destroy you; except for that you have no further relations with her—nothing to do or undo; no voice as to the disposal of what remains of her; no power, no will, no influence in her fate. I supplant you; I take my own again; I re-assume a responsibility temporarily taken from me. And now I think you understand?"

He gave him one level and deadly stare; then his pallid features relaxed. He slowly walked past Ruthven, gaunt, preoccupied, unlocked the door and passed out.

Your Mirror Does It Reflect Beauty?

Does it show an otherwise handsome face, of perfect contour, utterly ruined by a coarse, expert and chemically prepared blanches and wrinkles?

If it does it is simply the fault of your own neglect! It is easily within the reach of every woman to possess a pure, elastic skin with clean, fine pores, radiant with the youthful glow of a magnificent complexion.

The skin is extremely delicate and may be easily ruined. Don't make experiments with unknown, or new and untried preparations. Carefully choose those standard preparations that are used and recommended by fastidious women who are competent to judge.

The preparations made by E. B. Heimbstreet, Chicago, have been standard beauty requisites for 30 years. The foremost beauty experts and chemists are employed in their production. These preparations are made of the very finest ingredients and conform to the latest discoveries of science.

If the use of these preparations any woman may cultivate her beauty to an astonishing degree of perfection.

The dealer named below, sells E. B. Heimbstreet's preparations.
